Badgerys Creek: minor road closures

Planning for minor road closures at the Badgerys Creek airport site

In April 2014 the Commonwealth-owned land at Badgerys Creek was announced as the site of an airport for Western Sydney and work is continuing towards delivering an operational airport by the mid-2020s.

Ongoing preparatory work for the proposed Western Sydney Airport requires the gradual closure of the internal road network within the Badgerys Creek site. Minor access roads will be progressively closed when they are no longer required. Closures commenced in April 2016 and will continue when roads are no longer required. Where possible, parts of roads will remain open to allow access to public facilities on the site.

These road closures are not expected to impact traffic along the arterial roads within the area as closures are limited to side access roads. No main roads within or around the site are currently scheduled for closure. This means that Badgerys Creek Road will remain open at this time.

Minor roads which have closed are shown on the map overleaf. They include:

- Ferndale Road;
- Jackson Road;
- Fuller Street;
- Gardiner Road;
- Taylors Road;
- Jagelman Road;
- Winston Close;
- part of Anton Road;
- part of Longleys Road;
- Vicary's access road off The Northern Road; and
- part of Pitt Street.

Only roads within the airport site will close. Sections of these roads outside of the airport site will remain open.
